SOUTH CAROLINA MONEY. We will take South Carolina money at par in payment for subscriptions to the PATRIOT.

NEWSPAPER POETRY .- Nearly all newspa per editors receive for publication much more of what is sometimes called poetry than they can find either room or readers for. Some of this so-called poetry does n't rise to the dignity and merit of respectable doggeral. We have received from a love stricken correspon dent at a di-tauce a batch of rhymes of precisely this description. To that correspondent we desire to say one friendly word, and as it is intended solely for his benefit, we trust he will receive it in the same friendly

In the first piece, "Rodelph." your "poe try" is not suited to our columns, if, indeed. it is suited to snybody's. We would not willingly wound your seasibilities; but truth fitly spoken, is always wholesome, especially to the young, and it is evident that you are not yet old-not as old as you will be in a few years at any rate. You must therefore permit us to say that this is not poetry-"Thou art dear to me; thy image bright

My heart shall keep in its shrine. Till Gabriel's awfu trump shall sound To strike the do-m of time."

And we must further say, that if "SALLIE" is as sensible a girl as the general run of SAL LISB are, she will think none the better of your love for being told of it in such rhymes Besides, you plaster it on too thick by half. In all probability that heart of yours, whose constancy is we will admit, all you represent it to be, will be incapable of keeping any sort of an image long before the little musical affair to which you allude comes off ;unless, indeed, there is more foundation for the belief of the Millerites than the peace of the public mind would seem to demand. And as the "Doom of Time" has never, to our knowledge, done either GABRIEL or his Trump an intentional wrong, we can't belp thinking Quinine. Arsenic, Calomei, &c., that the "strike" to which you refer would be cruel and uncalled-for, to say the least

One more word, "Rodolph," and we shall have done. "A distinguished caterer" has said that some men are born great; some achieve greatness, and some have greatness thrust upon them. We will say, merely for the sake of argument, that you were not born great; and further, merely for the sake of truth, that you have not had, and are not likely to have, greatness thrust upon you hence, if you are to become great you mus achieve that greatness. We would advise von to do so by all means. But if you attempt to accomplish your object by writing poetry, you will find in the end that you have taken the wrong road.

THE LUNATIC ASYLUM AT HOPKINSVILLE Ky .- We copied into our Monday morning's issue, from the Gazette of the day before, a paragraph in reference to the destruction by fire of the Lunatic Asylum at Hopkinsville, Ky. The Gazette's informant stated that fifty of the inmates of the institution lost their lives. It turns out, however, that this was a mi-take, and that the inmates were all rescued from the burning building. This news will be bailed with a thrill of pleasure by all. There was something very terrible and at palling in the thought that fifty human beings, bereft of reason and helpless, had perished by fire.

The little poem in the PATRIOT the other morning, by WILLIAM WALLACE HAR NET of the Louisville Democrat, should have been entittled "THE STAB." instead of "THE STAR." In this case there is much in a name.

MURDER IN SPARTA .- We learn from the Sparta Constitutionalist, that WM. MCRGAN was killed in an affray in that town Saturday week, by WM. M. GREEN. The affray occurred at the house of Mongan, who received of GREEN. The latter was tried before Judge GARDENHIRE and was pronounced guilty of murder in the first degree and sent to jail. W. P GREEN, JAS. E. BRYAN and C. DAVIS were also tried as accessories to the murder. The first named was held to bail in a bond of $5.000; BRYAN and DAVIS were bound over to answer the charge of assault and bartery.

A NEW COOK STOVE .- It will be seen, or referring to our advertising columns, that MACK SEE & MINCHIN are introducing here "The Southerner," a new cook stove, which requires but little fuel, and bakes well.
